

SFI Knowledge Catalyst Connect with Finance Students

Internship – Literature review of the evolution of asset classes

The SFI Knowledge Catalyst provides you with the opportunity to gain work experience at Corestone Investment Managers. Corestone Investment Managers is a multi-asset multi-management company based in Zug, Switzerland. Backed by the Robeco Group, the company operates at arms' length with an independent investment process and provides services to an institutional client base.

Staffed by experienced investment professionals with diverse international backgrounds, we are looking for an intern to assist Corestone Investment Managers on a specific project. The position offers an exclusive insight into the everyday business of an institutional asset manager.

Corestone Investment Managers offers:

The intern will work directly for the Head of Asset Allocation and will assist him in finishing a project in a timely manner. It includes an empirical study around the evolution of asset classes and financial market innovations and the effects on institutional investor portfolios.

Preferably, the candidate would start working the next possible workweek. Estimated length of the project is 4-6 months. Work percentage can be negotiated. The job does not require constant office presence.

Requirements:

- Applicable finance or economical master's degree
- Prior experience in finance is not required but seen as a plus
- Self-starter with drive to excel
- Good knowledge of financial theory and history
- English or German should be fluent
- Eloquent writing capability

Duration: 4-6 months

Start date: Asap

Interested?

Please send your motivation letter, CV, and university grades to Ms Désirée Spörndli at ds@sfi.ch